Management Process and Organisational Behaviour This is an anthology of prose, poetry, grammar and communication skills which has been tailor-made to suit the syllabus of Solapur University for the BA and BCom Second Year courses. There are six prose pieces, and an attempt has been made to include four pieces which are modern and from various areas of interest. There are three poems to represent British, American and Indian poetry in English. Detailed glossaries are provided for each piece in the prose and poetry sections. Comprehension questions are designed in such a way that a variety of multiple choice and objective questions and also subjective long-answer questions are included in order to suit the question paper for the second year BA and BCom courses of Solapur University. The grammar section takes off from what was taught in the first year, and therefore the use of modal verbs, active and passive voice forms, direct and reported speech are introduced to the student in this book. The communication skills section presents samples of communication in both spoken and written modes and also offers sufficient exercises for practice and recall. Some of the writing skills covered here are paragraph writing, narrative writing, summarising and writing notices and minutes while interviews and interviewing skills and talking about oneself, socialising, requesting, etc. are dealt with under spoken communication. This book is essential for academics that enter the field of higher education and training, as it focuses on preparing teachers and trainers to respond appropriately to student success challenges. Student success is a burning issue, both globally and locally. While student achievement is determined by a combination of factors, teachers and their teaching practices do matter. Higher education teachers are expected to fulfil different roles at different times, such as planning for curriculum implementation, mentorship and coaching, facilitating learning, resource development, and student assessment. Against this background the primary purpose of Empowering novice academics for student success: Wearing different hats is building the capacity of novice teachers and trainers to play an influential role in increasing student success throughput.
